

The Future of Critical Criminology

Where do we go from here?

Wednesday 27 July 2016

Critical criminology has reached a crucial stage in its development. We need the critical tradition to forge new paths and generate new ideas in-keeping with contemporary society and the changes characteristic of Capitalist consumption. We cannot look back to the radicalism of the sixties and assume that the ideas of earlier critical criminologists will be equally radical in our own times. It is time for a new generation of critical criminologists to ask searching questions about the world we live in, and how it can be changed for the better. Therefore, this one day symposium begins the hunt for the new ideas that will sustain critical criminology during these times of crisis.

Call for Papers and Posters:

There will be a limited number of paper and poster presentation opportunities. If you are interested in submitting a poster or paper then please complete the online forms, which can be found on the conference website by 10 July 2016:

www2.le.ac.uk/departments/criminology/news-and-events/the-future-of-critical-criminology

All submitted conference papers and posters will be peer reviewed by the panel and we will contact you to let you know if your abstract has been accepted or not.

Confirmed Speakers:

- Professor David Friedrichs
(The University of Scranton, US)
- Professor Steve Tombs
(The Open University, UK)
- Professor Simon Winlow
(Teesside Centre for Realist Criminology, UK)
- Professor Steve Hall
(Teesside Centre for Realist Criminology, UK)
- Professor Keith Hayward
(University of Copenhagen)
- Dr Victoria Silverwood
(Birmingham City University)
- Dr Pamela Ugwudike
(Swansea University)
- Ann Pettifor
(Policy Research in Macroeconomics (PRIME), UK)

The event is free to attend but registration is required since places are limited.

VENUE: Brookfield Campus (LE2 1RQ). This free lecture is open to graduates, students, staff and members of the public. For more details and to book a place please visit our website.

This will be the launch event of the critical criminology network